DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-2 and 5-11 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6,773,110. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the patented claims anticipate the currently pending claims.

Claims 3-4 and 12 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6,773,110 in view of Meis et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6,427,034). U.S. Patent No. 6,773,110 teaches the salient features of the claimed invention except for the backing sheet with a plurality of optical fibers which may be attached to nearly any surface. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the features taught by Meis for the purpose of repositionability and proper alignment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 6, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takubo (US 4407437).

In reference to claim 1, Takubo discloses a camera stabilizer, ref. 50, comprising: a platform having a first end connectable to a camera and a second end extending outwardly from the first end rest to rest on a shoulder of a camera operator, col. 4 lines 35-40; a handle, ref. 4, locked/connectable to the platform having camera controls contained thereon; and means for transmitting camera control signals from the handle to a signal receiving port on the camera, col. 4 lines 15-29 and 46-52. Takubo discloses wherein the handle is locked to the platform by having a locking pin biased from the handle into a bore in the platform, col. 6 lines 31-36.

In reference to claims 6 and 8, Takubo discloses wherein the means for transmitting the camera control signals is a signal bore extending through the platform, col. 6 lines 37-57. (The remote control is the trigger setup disclosed.)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takubo (US 4407437) in view of The Zoom CommanderTM (internet printout).

In reference to claim 9, Takubo discloses the limitations of the parent claims as disclosed above. Takubo does not disclose a removable remote control. The Zoom CommanderTM discloses a removable remote control that is attachable to a camera platform with a shoulder brace, see page 3. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to realize that The Zoom CommanderTM could be attached to the camera brace of Takubo. The Zoom CommanderTM would be attached to the brace of Takubo in order to provide more control over the many functions that are standard on today's cameras.

Claims 2-5, 7 and 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takubo (US 4407437) in view of The Zoom CommanderTM (internet printout) and further in view of Meis et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6427034).

Takubo in view of The Zoom CommanderTM discloses the limitations of the parent claims as disclosed above. It not discloses where the means for transmitting camera control signals comprises a fiber optic fiber. Instead The Zoom CommanderTM discloses the control signals are transmitted through a wire connection, see page 2. teaches the salient features of the claimed invention except for the backing sheet with a plurality of optical fibers which may be attached to nearly any surface. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the features taught by Meis for the purpose of repositionability and proper alignment.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
